The steamer Old, Colony of the Fall River.

The steamer Old Colony of the Fall River line met with a serious accident while on her outward trip on Tucoday evening. She was turning the point of the Battery to enter the East River when she was struck at the stern, on the starboard side, by the propeller Neptune, receiving injuries which rendered it impossible for her to safely continue the voyage. None of the passengers were injured. She kept on her course until she reached the foot of Thirteenth-st., where her passengers were transferred to the Narragansett, and continued their journey. Part of the freight has been transferred to the Neptune. The steamer has been placed in the dock at the foot of Thirteenth-st., and will be repaired immediately.

FREHOLD, N. J.—A meter in the gas works exploded on Wednesday night, setting fire to the premises and several adjoining buildings, which were partially destroyed. The Freehold company's loss was $5,000, and the Pneumatic company lost $5,000 additional, on which there is no insurance. Owing to the absence of a fire department, it was at one time feared, from the rapidity with which the flames spread, that the entire vihage would be destroyed. The meter that exploded was a new one, recently put in by the Pneumatic company, who were about to erect a new set of works at a cost of several thousand dollars.

FLEMINGTON, N. J.—On Tuesday last, three well-dressed men entered the National Bank of this town, one after another. The first one entered the Directors' room, where Mr. C. C. Dunham, the Cashier, was attending to some business, and proposed to sell him some Government bonds. The other two strangers then appeared at the door, when Mr. Dunham's suspicions were aroused, and he hastily closed the door upon the two, picked up his revolver, and continued the conversation about the bonds. The first comer soon joined his companions, and the three departed together. On investigation it was found that these men had a carriage with fleet horses attached at the outskirts of the town, and after leaving the bank they were seen to enter the carriage and drive rapidly toward Clinton. They arrived at Clinton at about 5 p. m., and one of them entered the National Bank of that place just as it was being closed. Two onal Bank of that place just as it was being closed. One of those limbs of the law who hang around the Tombs Prison, on the lookout for clients, was brought to a sadden and deserved grief, yesterday afternoon. Early in the day, Mrs. Teresa Hyman of No. 195
Mulberry-st, appeared before Justice Dowling and said that she had received, on the 12th inst., a card from a lawyer named Edward J. Anderson, who requested her to call upon him. She called at the office of the lawyer, in Broadway, and he there informed her that her husband, who had died in the Tembs, on Sunday last, from dehrium tremens, had given him (Anderson) his bank-book, certifying to a deposit for $250; Hyman having been arrested on a charge of abandoning his wife, had secured the services of Anderson. The latter also told the woman that, as administrative of her husband's cestate, she would be forced to go before the Surrogate and undergo an examination by that official before he would xive up the bank book. Anderson stated that he had already drawn the sum of $50 from the East River Savings Bank, in which the deposit was made, to satisfy his claim on the deceased for legal services rendered, and that the deceased had given him a written order, a day or two previous to his death, authorizing him to do so. This the woman declared was impossible, as her husband could not write or read. The lawyer declared that his statement was correct, and refused to give up the bank-book. Justice Dowling sent word to Anderson that the book and money must be restored to the woman. The latter refused to comply with the mandate, and accordingly one of the Court officers was sent for him, and Anderson was taken into the court-room just before the Magistrate, Anderson attempted the same explanation he had made to the woman, but the Magistrate ordered the affidavit of the complainant to be read. This was done. Anderson then stated that Hyman had drawn the money himself on an affidavit before a notary public, and that he was sane at the type he did so. On learning of the death of Mr. Hyman, he had sent for the complainant, and told her about the bank book, and how to proceed in the case. Justice Dowling reminied Anderso

MEETING OF THE FRUIT GROWERS' CLUB. The Fruit Growers' Club' met yesterday afternoon, in their room, over the Whitlock Exposition. Mr. Wakeman presided. Mr. Fuller read a paper on the causes of disappointment to purchasers of trees, flowers, seeds, &c. It was, he said, generally the fault of buyers, who obtained their trees and plants from traveling agents, instead of going to regular dealers. It was, frequently, because the soil or cultivation was not of a kind to develop the capabilities of the tree or plant. He thought, as a general thing, nurserymen furnished the varieties they agreed to. A lively discussion followed, as to the responsibility of nurserymen. Mr. Kenneman thought purchasers should go directly to dealers, who could be held responsible for the genuineness of their goods. Mr. Fuller said that every one who purchased of a traveling agent deserved to be cheated. One of these agents had bought strawberry plants of him at $8 per 1,000, and sold them in the same neighborhood, as a fine French variety, at $10 per 100. Mr. Smith said he thought the parties who sent these agents out with their catalogues were as dishonest as the agents. Mr. Wakeman presided. Mr. Fuller read a paper on the

THE LADIES UNION RELIEF ASSOCIATION-THE NEED OF FUNDS.

The Ladies' Union Relief Association was formed in 1862 for the care of disabled soldiers and their families. At that time their attention was devoted to families. At that time their attention was devoted to the Military Hospitals of the city which they visited and whose inmates they provided with all needed comforts. When these hospitals no longer existed, these ladies, seeing that the soldier would still claim their aid, organized by the election of the following officers: President, Mrs. John A. Kennedy. Vice-President, Mrs. Dr. C. V. Clarkson. Treasurer, Miss Marianna Hale. Recording Secretary, Miss Maceline McKibben. Corresponding Secretary, Miss Evelina S. Hamilton. Among the Board of Managers are Mrs. Marshall O. Roberts, Mrs. Robert Anderson, Mrs. Wm. D. Kennedy, Miss Sarah Bostwick and Mrs. John Frv. The members of the Society visit all applicants for aid, inquire bito their necessities, and help them according to their wants. They dispense food, clothing, and money, furnish physicians and medicines, loan sewing machines, obtain legal advice, and protect the interests of soldiers from claim agents. They send money to the soldiers' homes, use their influence with the Government to procure pensions for widows and orphans, and help to bury the dead, that no soldier may be obliged to rest in a pauper's grave. During the past two years they have in this way spent more than $23,000. Last year they assisted more than 500 families, and have now over 200 families dependent on them for support. They are now quite out of funds, and turn to the community at large for help. They meet during the Summer every Wednesday they were obliged to send many applicants away without their usual pittance.

SUPPOSED SUICIDE OF A SPIRITUALIST. On Wednesday morning last Edward Rodgers, B. Conklin. He testified that Rodgers had been well known to him for 12 years past, and that he has been a contributor to various spiritualist and other papers during nearly all of that time. Of late he has been in destitute circumstances. On the 13th inst. he called on Mr. Conklin and borrowed a small sum of money from him, and handing him a paper, requested him to read it after his departure. Soon afterward he went away. On looking at the paper given him, Mr. Conklin found it to be an oblituary of Rodgers, written by himself, and a request that it be published in one or more of the daily papers. In accordance with this report Mr. Conklin gave the oblituary to a friend, by whom it was copied and sent to one or more of the daily papers for publication. It was not printed however. On hearing of the death of Rogers, Mr. Conklin was convinced that he had committed suicide. Dr. Shine made a post mortem examination of the body, but could find no trace of poison. It is possible, however, that Rodgers took morphine, the presence of which in the internal organs would not be readily detected. In order to make a more thorough examination, Dr. Shine removed the stomach and contents, and the inquest was adjourned until to-day.

CANE PRESENTATION.—The friends of the Hon. Win. Mungen, Member of Congress from Findlay, in the Fifth District of Ohio, gave him a supper at the Greason House, corner of Thirteenth and E-sts, Washington, D. C., on the evening of April 6. The repast was sumptuous, the wines clegant, and the whole affair was of the very best style. As a caterer, but few surpass Mr. Greason. The party of twenty-five gentlemen was made up of men who now reside, or have resided, in Ohio, and were all personal friends of Geu. Mungen. There was nothing political or partisan in it. The General was rather astonished when Judge McCorkle, late Member of Congress from California, made an eloquent and most appropriate presentation speech, and presented him with a magnificent gold-mounted cane. The matter was a surprise, and the General was evidently affected by the occurrence. Our reporters, however, took down his remarks, which were as follows:

GENTLEMENT: In accepting this token of respect and friendship words and but feebly express my thanks. Long years of personal acquaintance with nearly every gentlamen present; associations formed in the feeld, in the form, in the legislative halls of the Nature of Ohio and of the nation.

THE UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD LITIGATION EXAMINATION BEFORE THE REFERFE-THE BANK ACCOUNT OF HENRY C. CRANE.

The case of James Fisk, jr., against the Union Pacific Railroad Company was resumed at the office of Mr. A. Radfield, the Referee, No. 20 Nassau-st., yesterday afternoon. The aim of Mr. D. D. Field, on behalf of the plaintiff, was to prove that money (alleged to reach the amount of $5,000,000) invested in the Corn Exchange Bank, in the name of Henry C. Crane, actually belonged to the Union Pacific Railroad Company. The first witness examined was Mr. E. W. Dunham, the President of the Corn Exchange Bank. He stated that Henry C. Crane had an account in the bank, and the amount of his credit was now $1,270 17, after paying a check of $2,500 credit was now $1,270 17, after paying a check of $2,500 which was paid this morning on the order of plaintiff's attorney and the Court. The balance of his account at the time of the service of the injunction was $3,777 17.

Mr. Field—Has the Union Pacific Railroad Company an account at your bank? (Objected to.) The witness continued: Mr. Crane did not draw checks against any bonds of the Union Pacific Railroad Company deposited in the bank, and the bank had no security against his drafts; of the amount of his deposits and checks during the last two months he had no recollection, but it would appear on the ledger; the deposits of Mr. Crane were entered in the credit cash-book, and both were posted in their proper places in the ledger; to the best of his knowledge Crane's account with the bank had been running 11 or 12 years; witness did not know what Crane's relation with the Union Pacific Railroad was, or whether he had ever had any transactions with the Company; he never recollected Crane's account at the bank having been talked of to him by anybody whom he had reason to suppose was an officer in the service of the Union Pacific Railroad Company; he knew Thon J. Durant, but that gentleman had never spoken to him about Crane's account; witness could not form any estimate, from recollection, of the amount of the deposits of Mr. Crane since the 1st of January.

Mr. Field—Is it several millions. A. I should guess it account; where a mount of the deposits of Mr. Crane since the 1st of January.

Mr. Field —Is it several millions. A. I should guess it was not $100,000. In reply to another question from Mr. Field, witness said he had no knowledge as to whether the money deposited by Crane was his own private money or not. At the close of his examination the witness granted permission to Mr. Field to investigate the bank books, and it was eventually resolved that an examination of them should be unde to morrow. Mr. Field expressed his intention of examining Mr. Dunham again on Saturday morning, after he had made himself familiar with the account in the bank book.

Mr. Heury C. Crane was then examined by Mr. Field—He said he had not his bank pass book with him; he believed it was in his safe at No. 20 Nassau-st; he had not the key of the safe in his possession, but supposed it was on his desk; he had a check book which was also in the safe.

Mr. Field—Will you produce these books!

Witness made no reply.

In answer to further questions, the witness stated that he had no other book relating in any manner to the account between him and the Corn Exchange Bank; neither had he any book showing where the mency he deposited came from, but the margin of his check-book would show that. The nature of his connection with the Union Pacific Railroad Company was simply as a director; he had never held any other office in the Company; he carried on his private business at No. 20 Nassan-st, in the Company's office; he was formerly Assistant-Secretary and Assistant-Treasurer in the Credit Mobilier of America, but had had nothing to do with them since 1867.

Mr. Field—Are you not assistant treasurer for some trustee or fund connected with the Union Pacific Railroad Company! A. I can't answer that question until I understand what you are driving at.

In answer to a question whether he had, within the last three months received checks on behalf of the Union Pacific Railroad Co., the witness said: I have received checks.

racine Rainford Co., the windess saint. I have technicks.

Mr. Field, as assistant treasurer for whom? A. (after some heattation) I am assistant treasurer for the assignees of a centract on the Union Pacific Railroad. The contract was made by Mr. Oakes Ames, and the assignees were, Messrs. Oliver Ames, Thos. C. Durant, H. S. McComb, John Duff, Benj. C. Bates, and C. T. Bushulle. Mr. Field having requested the witness to produce his check and pass books to morrow, remarked that he thought he could prove that considerable amounts belonging to the Union Pacific Railroad Co., were deposited in the Corn Exchange Bank under cover of Mr. Craue's name. The case was then adjourned till 12 o'clock this morning.

THE CHRISTY ESTATE.

Breck agt Smith .- The trial of this case was resumed yesterday. Mr. C. Bainbridge Smith acted as counsel for the defendant. Justice C. K. Smith was examined on his behalf. He testified that on the 10th of September, 1867, when the will of E. Byron Christy was admitted to probate, the conveyances complained of by Mrs. Breek were executed, the papers in a suit to set aside a $15,000 mortgage to Mr. Blankman, had been drawn and filed, and that Mrs. Christy had been directed to resist the probate of the will offered by Mrs. Breek. That under these circumstances he was requested to drawn and filed, and that Mrs. Christy had been directed to resist the probate of the will offered by Mrs. Breek. That under these circumstances he was requested to drawn and associated the drawn of the series of the will offered by Mrs. Breek. That under these circumstances he was requested to drawn and a submitted it to Mr. Blankman. Mrs. Christy, Chas. K. Smith, Mrs. Breek, and B. J. Blankman, and that he drew guch a mendum and submitted it to Mr. Blankman. Who said it was substantially correct, and requested him to draw the papers. These papers were a deed of two bouses in Grand-st. to Mr. Blankman, subject to two selected mortgages; a deed of two other houses to Charles K. Smith; satisfactions of two mortgages held by Blankman and Smith; a conveyance of the New-Utrecht lots, and mutual releases of all interest. Blankman objected to one of these—the deed to himself—that the arrangement was that he was to pay Mrs. Breeck her $5,000, and that deed was accordingly modified. The papers were all executed before the will was allowed to be proved. One of the $10,000 mortgages on Blankman's property was to C. K. Smith, but as security for Judge Jones's fee, for which he wasfilable. Some time after, all four houses were sold. Blankman's two houses were sold, and the proceeds, deducting the two mortgages, paid to him. The $10,000 was paid over to C. K. Smith. One of the other two houses was sold for $25,000, and the money he (C. B. Smith) retained, at the request of Mrs. Christy, to pay off the claims against her, and to invest the rest for her benefit. He had paid out $12,000 of this money September, 1867, when the will of E. Byron Christy was

Honor.

[Judge Barnard could not believe till shown his order that he had ever granted it.]

Mr. Haskin had not served any papers, but had kept filing lis pendens on the property—one now and then; at the expiration of 60 days another, with some change of parties. They had had, at the time of the sale, to pay him $2,500—41,800 from Mr. Smith, and $1,000 from Mr. Blankman—to get rid of these his pendens, leaving him, however, to proceed with any action he might have. Mr. Smith was responsible for whatever claim he should establish.

United States agt. William II., Star.—The defendant, whose wonderful adventures in the Marquesas Islands have been already fully described in The Thinux, was, it will be remembered, charged some time since before Commissioner Botts, with endeavoring to create a revolt on board of the American ship Volunteer, on which he had shipped as one of the crew. As it was apparent that the defendant had no criminal intent in resisting the unreasonable orders of some of the officers of the Volunteer, the complaint against him was dismissed, and he received his discharge, on payment of costs to the Government.

Henry A. Taylor agt. The Quicksilver Mining Company.—This is a suit in the Supreme Court to declare the plaintiff to be the owner of 14 per cent of the property now held by the Quicksilver Mining Company. The complaint sets forth that a Knowles Taylor, the testator of the plaintiff, and John B. Gray, jointly purchased in 1848 a large tract of land on the borders of the bay of San Francisco; that by subsequent arrangements Taylor's share was reduced to 14 per cent, Robert J. Walker becoming a trustee, and that the premises ultimately fell into the hands of the defendants, the Quicksilver Mining Company. The plaintiff, a resident of New York, claimed his share as the representative of Knowles Taylor in the property of the Almaden Quicksilver Company. The defendants claimed on the grounds that the Court had no jurisdiction of the subject of the action; that the facts stated did not constitute a cause of action, and that Robert J. Walker should have been made a party. The Court below overruled the demurrer, and the defendants appealed. The appeal was argued.

At the Essex Market Police Court, yesterday,

At the Essex Market Police Court, yesterday, Officer Mohr of the Seventeenth Precinct, brought in James Keily, charged with attempting a burglary on the premises of Mr. Frederick Freise, at No. 12 Avenue A, and also of making a felonious assault upon Charles Gratz, who attempted to interfere with his proceedings. The prisoner was committed to answer both complaints.

At the Jefferson Market Police Court yesterday, before Justice Dodge, Frederick G. Hunt, Charles M. Chase, and Thomas Soren, alias Armstrong, were admitted to bail, each in $1,500, on the charge of having swindled an emigrant named John Pickersgill out of $1,000, by representing to him that they required a partner with that amount of capital. Hunt has been recognized as an old swindler.

John H. Whitton keeps a grocery in Eighthave, near Fifty-ninth-st. Commissioner Whitchead of New-Jersey issued a warrant for his arrest, on a charge of selling counterfeit $10 National currency at Union Hall, New-Jersey. He was arrested in this city, exserday, by Secret Service Defectives Donn and Applegate, who, on searching him, found a $6 counterfeit Treasury note in his coat pecket. He said that was all he had, but a further search revealed $6 m 25 cent currency, and $2 in 50 cent currency, all counterfeit, in his vest pocket. The defendant having elected to have his examination in this District, was held, in default of $5.000 bail, by Commissioner Betts, for examination to-morrow.
